

Who are we?

This counselling service is a contact point for immigrants. It represents their interests and is operated by Diakonisches Werke Potsdam e.V. on behalf of the Protestant Church. In the center of our work, the human being is independent from residence status, nationality, religion, sex, age or ethnic background.

Which objectives do we have?

We work strongly together with the immigrants to help them to:

- exercise their rights
- have equal participation in society and lead an independent and dignified life
- improve the often difficult living situation
- give support in search of a new life perspective
- strengthen independence and self-responsibility
- counteract racist and discriminatory tendencies
- receive understanding for their situation from the population and authorities.

What do we offer:

The Passport

The Passport is the most noble part of the human being. It also does not come into existence in such a simple fashion as a human being does.

A human being can come into the world anywhere, in the most careless way and for no good reason, but a passport never can. When it is good, the passport is also recognized for this quality, whereas human being, no matter how good, can go unrecognized.
